ISSUE

237th Convention of ECCT October 23, 2021

Moments of beauty, moments of humor, moments of frustration, moments of identification with serious issues and 400 of us ended the Zoom Convention 6 minutes early!

Who was "there"? Roughly 200 clergy and 200 laity serving Connecticut churches, and interestingly, Connecticut people were Zooming in from Florida, California and Deer Isle, Maine. Connecticut Episcopalians don't stay home but do stay electronically connected!

We started with a tour of the renovated Cathedral in Hartford. There are new glass doors to allow Main St. walkers to see in, and the interior lightened with new white oak floors. There are Cathedral chairs in the nave, no longer the box pews that shunted those who couldn't afford them elsewhere. Air conditioning, beautiful white oak handicapped ramps, new restrooms by the entrances and "intelligent" lights. Yes, the old pew doors do form the north wall which hides storage of the Cathedral chairs and books as the nave space is reconfigured for the use of the day. No matter what the use, the baptismal font always remains out as this is a Christian space whether used by the congregation or the community.

How did we see it used? The nave was completely cleared for Morning Prayer. The service was read from the cathedra by Bp. Ian and 5 Convention leaders present. The psalm was danced in the nave by the Dance Troupe from Trinity Church, Middletown. And then, since Bp. Ian is retiring and this was his last Convention, the Cathedral had commissioned a piece of music entitled "Bridges". It was composed by Kevin Bishop and performed by 3 violins, 2 violas, a cello, guitar AND the Cathedral tower chimes. They positioned a camera over the head of the carillonneur so we saw her push the levers down and then saw the clappers hit the inside of the bells. (Yes, long ago I had climbed to the carillon but wasn't allowed to touch anything!) Dean Lina's notes in the Chat said the music was Anglican Chant modernized and made groovy. I suspect disc, tape, thumb drive will be available of it shortly.

Other encouraging and interesting things about worship were the Chat was left on during Morning Prayer and we, the people, were invited to put our own intercessory prayers in the Chat. I was impressed that prayers continued to be posted throughout all the verses of the following prayer and the Postlude. It seemed like we were hungry for prayer space. The contemporary form of the Lord's Prayer was used and after the Gospel reading, the priest said, "The Word of the Lord" but we responded with "Hear what the Spirit is saying to God's people."

What was exciting was the approval of 2 new Intentional Episcopal

Communities, one very similar to St. Mark's and a new possibility we need to look into. The Chapel of All Saints is an Episcopal congregation in Cornwall that was invited to become an IEC. They meet to worship in the North Cornwall Meeting house. They are a small and welcoming congregation that does outreach instead of caring for a church building. Their governance is less hierarchically structured than other Episcopal Churches. Free of building responsibilities, they support extensive outreach efforts, contributing to local food banks and international organizations. They contributed more than $5,000 to the Sharon House Garden which grows food for local food banks. Last year the contribution was to the Cornwall Food Bank and the Community Soup Kitchen in Torrington. Outreach rather than care for a church building seems like a new and certainly a Christian perspective. If we were to want more information on the IEP in Canon 6 of ECCT Canons, (and I would suggest we should) we are to reach out to either bishop and the Rev. Marilyn Anderson.

Seabury Retirement Community in Bloomfield was also approved today as an Intentional Episcopal Community and The Episcopal Church at Yale was previously approved as IEP. No parishes were presented or approved for mergers today.

Other business of the 237th Convention:

- The balanced budget was approved.
- Minimum Clergy Compensation was set.

(and here's where the amendment to amend the amendment and I table the question" started raising Roberts Rules of Order for the Chancellor of the Diocese to rule on. But it also caused someone to voice a more venomous question in the Chat, "Did Roberts die of natural causes?")

The amended Resolution passed requiring parishes to pay Deacons (Vocational) $25 a month further obligating the parish to an increase from the Church Pension Fund.

- Care for God's Creation and Creatures requiring an energy audit passed.
- Fostering Right Relationship: ECCT, Indigenous Episcopalians and Our Indigenous Neighbors passed.
- Sharing in the Work of Creating a Safe Church which is creating a way for parishes to collaborate in meeting the obligations of Model Policies for administrative oversight of parishes, passed.
- Evangelism of and by Young Adults passed.
- Addressing Racism within Title IV (Clergy Misconduct cases) passed.

Bp. Laura's sermon spoke about traumas we have not been able to grieve collectively and she gave us a quote from William Temple, "Church exists for those who are not members," which fits in with the new IEPs.

Bp. Ian's last address to Convention reviewed his 12 years as Bishop Diocesan and points out changes which still affect us all as we go forward now in Connecticut.

In 2011, there were 57,278 Connecticut Episcopalians in 171 parishes.

Now there are 43,373 Connecticut Episcopalians in 155 parishes.

Nationally in 2011 there were 2,096,389 Episcopalians.

Now there are nationally 1,736,282 Episcopalians.

In 2011 in Province 1 (New England) there were 189,187 Episcopalians.

Now there are 150,203 Episcopalians.

It's not just Episcopalians. The Roman Catholic Archdiocese of Hartford in 2017 merged or closed 40% of their parishes – 212 down to 127.

As we at St. Mark's continue with a home in New Britain and Smith Fund monies for ministry here, how are we being led by the Holy Spirit? How will the sale of 147 West Main St. progress? Do we take William Temple seriously that "Church exists for those who are not members"? What is opening up for us? Are we hearing what the Spirit is saying to God's people?

Allison's Parish Clerk News Corner

October 2021

NEWS FLASH!

St. Mark's has received a letter from Canon Rosanna Rosado stating "Your parish will be among those recognized in the Mission Council Report to our Annual Convention as being in 'Good Standing'." It has been over 3 years since we have met the requirements financially and by submitting audits, etc. on time. We must thank our Finance Committee, Treasurer Barbara Campbell, Parish Administrator Cheryl Rusczyk and really all of us. We all contributed our time, talent and treasure faithfully. Our work is not done. Please read our recent stewardship letter and prayerfully complete your pledge card for Stewardship Sunday, November 7th.

Updates:

1. Father Shaw has arranged for Albert Tomasso (organist) and his sister, Lucy, (singer) to play for us on Christmas Eve.
2. We have a tentative closing date of Nov. 15th for the sale of our 147 West Main St. property to Deeper Life Bible Church. The new pastors are very appreciative of the building and its contents. They are being generous, allowing us a little time to sort and move our property stored in the safes, vault and choir room. Vestry has planned a work day, Sunday Oct. 24th at 1 p.m. at the St. Mark's choir room. Volunteers are welcome!
3. Our Community Ministry Committee continues to distribute funds from the Smith Fund to the New Britain community by way of our food pantry, plans to assist an Afghan family relocating here, and a $500 donation to Pastor Dana Smith for warm winter coats.
4. Thursday Night Group continues to meet on Zoom 7-9 p.m. Barbara keeps us busy with current events affecting our community and our work for equality and justice. We've attended the Bishop Transition Committee's listening session and a panel discussion "The Children of Abraham-Sharing Stories". Please join us on Zoom via the St. Mark's website TNG link!
5. Our Nominating Committee will meet Oct. 31st after Sunday worship to seek willing candidates for next year's vestry. Please consider being part of the team!

Ultimately, God's enduring love is our constant. And that appears every day in our love for each other.

A prayer for guidance, faith, peace and hope.....

Allison Penick
